

Medical experts predict an expanding role for emergency departments under the Affordable Care Act. Policymakers at all levels must make it a priority to strengthen the nation's already over-stressed emergency care system. Emergency physicians offer new ideas for protecting everyone's access to emergency care — America's most essential medical specialty.